A long and tragic history

From the defeat of Imperial France at Sedan in 1870 to the famous German breakthrough in 1940, the Ardennes were the scene of murderous battles in which the very fate of France was often at stake.

These last three wars, those of 1870, 1914-18 and 1939-45, are the subject of this new museum devoted to the themes of war and peace in the Ardennes. Situated in the very heart of the Ardennes, this new amenity traces the salient events in the history of the Ardennes and places them in their historical and military context.

Grandiose reconstructions

Housed in a superb building with 4000 m2 of floor space, the museum is set out in two vast exhibition areas. On the ground floor are ten reconstructions featuring some 40 items of military hardware and 80 figures and depicting various episodes in the three conflicts.

Each reconstruction uses original sets brought to life with sound, light and images and is accompanied by a short film highlighting both the historical context and the particular situation in the Ardennes.

Visitors can go through the museum at their own pace thanks to the audio guides, available in French, Dutch, English and German.

Place du Luxembourg
Tel: + 33.(0)3.24.54.20.06

Located in a former 17th century guardroom, the BATTLE OF ROCROI MUSEUM tells the story of one of the most important periods in the history of France. In the middle of the Thirty Years' War which tore Europe apart between 1618 and 1648, here at the foot of the walls of Rocroi on May 19th 1643 Condé successfully halted an attempted Spanish invasion, in the process starting the reign of the Sun King in spectacular fashion. This 20 minute presentation explains the political situation in 1643, the movements of the armies and the manoeuvring of the regiments during the battle. Rocroi was a "high-speed battle" involving six hours of combat, 50,000 men and 10,000 dead.

Price (adult) from 3-4 € per person

In 1643, Rocroi was the scene of a battle won by Le Grand Condé over the Spanish. The museum tracing the history of this battle is located in a former guardroom built under Vauban. ### ABBEY SITE (12th – 18th century)

Tel: + 33 (0)3.24.37.25.85

At the edge of the forest lies the manoir abbatial d'Elan (Elan Abbey Manor), early 16th century, flanked by four towers. Opposite the manor house, the former monks' dwelling (16th century) is now home to a barn.

Nearby, the manse abbatiale offers visitors a photographic exhibition as well as models of the Elan Abbey, the Cistercian abbeys in France, the main Cistercian sites in France and the characteristics of the various parts which make up the abbey (the cloister, the chapter house, the dormitory, the church, etc).

Local produce for sale throughout the year.

To complete your visit, enjoy an unguided stroll around the Chapel of Saint Roger. St Roger, a monk from the shores of England, was given the task of setting up the Elan Abbey in 1148 by the Count of Rethel. At the end of his life, he withdrew to this site where he meditated, accomplishing numerous miracles of which the last was to make the water from this spring so icy cold that it could even cure the fires of love.

He died here on January 4th 1175. The chapel, built in the early 18th century, celebrates his memory.

You can also discover the arboretum proposed by the Office National des Forêts (national forestry office).

For anyone keen to learn more about this young poet, a visit to Charleville is "de rigueur".

The visitor will discover the life and work of Rimbaud, chiefly through the representation of objects, photographic reproductions and copies of various manuscripts, drawings or caricatures portraying Rimbaud or those close to him.

The museum is seeking to boost its collections with all the works devoted to this poet and to add to its collection of original documents.

The museum enables each and everyone to discover the early years of the poet in Charleville, his childhood and school years, the letters to his teacher Izambard, his first contact with the literary world and with Paul Verlaine, his "escapes", his travels and his life in Abyssinia.

Price (adult) : 3 € per person (the price provides entry to the Rimbaud museum + the Ardennes museum).

RIMBAUD (1854-2004)
Tel: + 33 (0)3.24.55.69.90

Charleville Mézières pays tribute to its most famous son, Arthur Rimbaud, born here in 1854. Visitors can discover Rue Pierre Bérégovoy and Quai Arthur Rimbaud, the two houses where Rimbaud lived from his birth to his teenage years.

After many adventures which led to him discovering Europe, Cyprus and Africa, Rimbaud died in Marseilles in 1891 at the age of 37. His body today lies in Charleville cemetery in a white marble tomb.

Charleville-Mézières has celebrated in 2004 the 150th anniversary of the birth of the poet.

CHARLEVILLE-MEZIERES (08000)
THE HOME OF ARTHUR RIMBAUD
7, Quai Arthur Rimbaud
Tel.: (Musée Rimbaud) +33 (0)3 24 32 44 65

The house is located at No. 7 on the quay bearing the name of the poet, and Vitalie Rimbaud and her children lived there from 1869 to 1875. The Rimbauds occupied the 130m<sup>2</sup> of the first floor. The City later acquired the entire building, and chose to adorn each room with elements of decoration representing cities the poet and adventurer had visited: Harare, London, Stuttgart, Aden, Brussels, Roche, Paris...

To better convey the "elsewhere" the poet sought throughout his life, each room is to be equipped with a discreet sound system to emit words, music and sounds for all to hear. Images will also be projected, upon windows of the home forming screens, and these will recall the poet's travels. Additionally, one specific colour is to be produced by several different light sources, and this will be visible from outside the house.

An exact replication of the original position of furniture was not the desired effect: the house was left as it was found. The goal is to take visitors along a "journey" of light, poetry, and music, awakening their imagination and allowing them to recreate the world of Rimbaud in a truly personal way. The reading room, located on the ground floor, contains hundreds of works in several languages.

Open Tuesdays through to Sundays, from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. and from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. One admission ticket is valid for all three establishments.

The Meuse valley is one of France’s most beautiful river valleys, thanks to the river, so Wagnerian in character, which fights an heroic battle with the shale and woodlands of the Ardennes mountains and then winds its way round picturesque meanders into Belgium.

The cruise boats ‘Ardenne’ and ‘Meuse’ ply the French stretch of the river from springtime to autumn, offering cruises with commentaries featuring the tales and legends of the Ardennes. Come aboard and listen to the stories of the four Aymon sons and the Ladies of the Meuse.

The ‘Ardenne’ will take you on a voyage to the very heart of the valleys of the Ardennes, half poetic and half historical in character, and the ‘Meuse’ offers a convivial lunch cruise through the delightful countryside. Whether it be just for a day out on the river, for lunch, for a professional get-together or a celebration with friends, don’t hesitate to call on our services.

Booking is essential. Prices vary according to the duration and nature of the service required.
